Roll of Honour of McGill Men Who Have Enlisted for Active Service

TO THE Graduates and Undergraduates:

McGill men have enlisted for overseas service in great numbers, in all capacities, and from every corner of the earth. While it is probably impossible to obtain a complete list of these men, the Graduates' Society is endeavoring to compile as complete a list as possible for publication early next year.

To this end three lists are published below, one of graduates, another of undergraduates, and a third of past students, i.e., those who once attended McGill but never completed their course.

The college year, military rank and unit of each, where known is also given. This list is only a "starter," something to work on, and the Graduates' Society asks everyone into whose hands this list may come to read it over carefully and send to THE REGISTRAR, MCGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL, any additional names they may know, and corrections regarding the rank and unit of those already included, together with any information of general interest, such as "killed in action," "wounded," "prisoner," or of military distinctions won.

The co-operation of everyone is essential if this list is to be made of any value as a record of what McGill men are doing at this time. Will you help by reading over the list now and mailing your corrections and additions to the Registrar of the University to-day.

On behalf of the Executive,
WILLIAM STEWART,
Secretary, Graduates Society of McGill University

Authors and Their Schooling

The current number of the Bookman publishes portraits, brief biographies or autobiographies and editorial estimates of a large number of newer writers of books who are making a reputation in the United States. After the reader has gone through the list and tries to relate the new facts to any literary trend and to make explanation of the rising fame of the persons described, certain features of the record begin to stand out and to provoke reflection and comment.

First, whether or not men or women, many, yes, most of them, have been in contact with academic activities somewhere. They have had insights into literature of the past. Their stay in college often has been cut off by necessity that is the mother of self-support. Hence they may have no B.A. or B.S. degree. But through books, the classroom and college journalism they have come into the fold of letters.

Second, in a large percentage of the cases there has been training in the school of journalism. The assignments of the reporter or the "missions" of the special correspondent have opened their eyes to a world to be described; while the strict, rigorous discipline of the "copy desk" has taught them the technique of method, variety and accuracy of language and facility in production.

But analysis of these personal sketches, which are exceedingly frank in many cases, shows that the new generation of authors has seen the world at large as none of its predecessors have seen it. These youths have travelled the seven seas and have brought back spoil from all the continents, and just how and why this web and woof of experience abroad and at home induced them to become artists they tell, either in their books or in their autobiographies, or in both.

To appraise the great value of this more unconventionally acquired incitement to authorship which so many of these rising authors confess, is not difficult, if the critic believes, as we do, in the world view and in its value to literature. Indeed it is difficult to imagine a better course of training for effective authorship than what many of these young men and women acknowledge as figuring in their early years. University, journalism and travel make a trio of factors which, shaping a career, are likely to insure some measure of continuity and perpetuity of popularity, once the public gets its eye on a writer so trained. The university provides the vistas into the past. Journalism trains for observation and description. Travel eliminates provincialism, furnishes material for comparative judgments of men and of institutions, softens aversions and undermines prejudices, enriches the imagination, and intensifies the creative power of the stylist-thinker.

The War Loan

In the financial history of the Dominion there has never been a more attractive bond offering placed before the Canadian public than the Dominion of Canada War Loan, the bonds of which will shortly be on sale and full particulars of which may be found elsewhere in this publication. As will be noticed these bonds will be issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. This brings them within the reach of any Canadian who is in possession of $100 or more. Entirely apart from the patriotic sentiment in the feeling of participation in this war issue which might influence the purchase of these bonds, there is the security and the earning feature which make this one of the most attractive investments that has ever been offered to even the most conservative investor. At the price which these bonds are being issued, i.e., 97½ with 10 years to run and interest payable at 5 per cent. per annum, they are earning for the investor about 5½ per cent. This is more than the yield from first class, or even fairly good railway bonds. Other advantages attached to this issue are that they are absolutely free of all taxes, that the coupons or cheques (if bonds are registered), may be cashed at any chartered bank anywhere in Canada free of discount charges, that these bonds are issued and guaranteed by the Government of Canada and for security have the whole Dominion behind them.

These War Loan Bonds fully meet in every way the requirements demanded for the investment of trust funds. Conditions under which we are living at present, are extraordinary and extraordinary measures have got to be created to meet them. Large amounts of money are required for war materials and to raise these amounts promptly this loan must be made attractive. Every student having money to invest, or who is in a position to influence money, should not overlook this loan.

Large institutions having surplus funds to invest should not fail to take advantage of this War Loan bond offering because it is from every point of view the ideal investment for funds of this kind. Anyone with any knowledge of investments knows that Government and municipal bonds rank above all other investments as the highest class.

Review of the Week's Doings

Probably, the most prominent feature in last week's Daily, was the large number of letters from students; arguing for or against the Daily policy in regard to C. O. T. C. The question was well thrashed out from every point. The Literary and Debating Society held a most successful meeting on Monday evening, when two good debates were put on. The first was between Arts '17 and '16, and the second between Sci. '18 and '19. The winners were Arts '17 and Sci. '18. The interest taken in the "Lit." this year so far, augurs well for its success. An account was given in Tuesday's Daily, of the plucky actions of Sgt. McQueen, a member of the 2nd Universities Co. The Philosophical Society held a successful meeting on Monday evening. A letter was received from a graduate stating that the McGill Yell was heard everywhere in the war zone. It was rumored that the Princess Pats were to be transferred to Serbia. The 4th Company was inspected on Thursday by General Wilson, and on Friday by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, who stated he was well pleased with the Company. A Fifth Company has been authorized, and recruiting for same is soon to be commenced. Lieut. Bone, Sci. '14, of the Royal Naval Air Service, was drowned. Dean Adams delivered a splendid lecture on "The Water Powers of Canada" on Wednesday evening before the Science Undergraduate Society. Prof. Evans delivered a lecture on "Cobalt" before the Chemical Society on Thursday evening. Basketball is having good success in the Associated Colleges. The Fencing Club had a well-attended practice on Wednesday, and some good work was done. The Students' Council held a meeting on Tuesday and decided that the campus rink would be in operation this winter. First year Arts held a debate on Tuesday evening. A challenge from Vermont University for a debate was received by the "Lit." The freshmen-sophomore Medical banquet on Thursday was a huge success in every way. The orchestra held an excellent practice on Thursday. The Western Club held a smoker in the Union on Friday evening. The bursar's messenger was held up in the Engineering Building on Friday morning and robbed of $150. The C. O. T. C. held good drills during the week. On Thursday they attacked the Park Slide, and the manoeuvres were well carried out.

The Science Undergraduate Society held a meeting on Thursday afternoon, and on Friday chose a committee to collect money for the purpose of sending Xmas presents to all the Science undergraduates and '15 graduates at the front.

RED CROSS IS NOT GETTING SUPPORT

To-day Begins Last Week of Red Cross Work Before Christmas.

Ever since the war began, the public has been hearing a good deal about certain persons commonly known as "slackers"—that is to say, men, who, for no other reason than want of spirit refuse to serve their country in its hour of need. It seems that the term is not applicable to men alone. There are only too many women who remain deliberately blind to the unique opportunity of service that lies before them at the present moment, and they continue to let their part of the national burden rest on the shoulders of already over-worked persons whose patience and unluckily for themselves and luckily for others—is as great as their patriotism. An example of this unfortunate spirit is to be seen in regard to the R. V. C. Red Cross. Day after day the same girls, some of them with heavy college courses, work steadily in the common room, while their less conscientious fellow-students are to be seen lounging about the locker-room, hall, and reading room doing nothing. The other day, the Red Cross member in charge finding the common room empty, went downstairs and very politely asked those who were sitting about the locker-room if they would come up and continue their conversation around the Red Cross tables. She received a point-blank refusal. Not only do many students utterly ignore the Red Cross, when not actually required to present themselves, but they frequently neglect to provide substitutes when they are unable to take their hour at looking after the work.

There are, it must be acknowledged, a number of students whose time is so fully occupied that it is quite impossible for them to do more than they have already undertaken. These, far from belonging to the sorry company of those who can work and will not are deserving of nothing but respect. Nevertheless, they might read the following bit of information, and if possible mark, learn and inwardly digest. Quite recently an undergraduate who, in addition to taking a double honor course, holds numerous official positions, and does far more than her share of college work, came to the Red Cross secretary, and told her that, as owing to her numerous duties, she was unable to do what she considered her fair share of work she would like to contribute five dollars to the fund, as a substitute for what she could not accomplish.

To-day begins the last week of Red Cross work before Christmas. It is hoped that every member of the R. V. C. will play her part in making the week's crop of bandages a bumper one.

NEW MEDICAL PUBLICATION.

A new publication is being issued by the students of the medical faculty at the University of Toronto, which will bear the significant name of "Cross-Bones." The first issue is expected to appear shortly after Christmas.

Shelvin is undoubtedly making much progress at Yale, but the fact that he has had the services of a number of players not available when Coach Hinkley was in supreme command should not be overlooked.

Correspondence

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence column. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculty will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY. No communications will be admitted to this column without the name of the writer being attached FOR PUBLICATION.

To the Editor of the Daily:

Nov 20th, 1915.
Dear Sir,—Our American friend, Mr. McLeod, desires a few facts in relation to the statements I made with regard to American interference in matters directly connected with military affairs.

I evidently wished to bind me down to facts connected with the C. O. T. C. alone. I did not phrase my letter, however, so that such a limited construction could be put upon my statements. I think I used the phrase "pernicious interference in military affairs," or something to that effect. I am willing to take Mr. McLeod's interpretation of the word "pernicious." I did mean harmful, and I shall attempt to prove in what way American interference is "harmful."

It is harmful in two ways—first, it puts all Americans in the University in a false light, when only a few are to blame, and second, it makes it appear to those who do not know that certain persons are Americans, that the University is not unanimous in matters directly or indirectly connected with the war.

Two cases where Americans were guilty of, what I should term indiscretion, are known to Mr. McLeod. One of these he mentioned himself. It was not good taste for Americans to wish to know at the meeting of the Students' Society how they stood in relation to the C. O. T. C. True, the battalion is a student activity, but a student activity in a British University. As such it cannot possibly apply to Americans. Similarly in American Universities there are certain things connected with the national life of the United States which cannot possibly apply to Canadians. At the present time Americans are in a difficult position. The country is at war, and the regular life of the University is dislocated. They, therefore, cannot expect to go their way as before. They must suffer certain inconveniences.

The second case was at the last meeting of the Union. Perhaps our American friend who moved an amendment regarding the Overseas Company did it as a joke. It was a poor joke at the present time. It was nothing but interference in what was again a British affair.

Then there are two statements, made by responsible persons, that I think it would be hard for Mr. McLeod to disprove. One is to the effect that Americans agitated against the 10% bonus granted to C. O. T. C. men in Science, because they felt that it put them at a disadvantage. This is one of the inconveniences that they must suffer at McGill for the duration of the war. As Americans they should not have agitated, because they might know that criticism would be launched against them, more so than it would be against the Canadians, who, no doubt, did the very same thing. Unless I am very much mistaken, one of these Americans spoke at the meeting of the meeting of the Students' Society.

The other statement that I wish to call attention to is to the effect that a policy of neutrality was moved by an American on the Daily Staff. This neutrality was, of course, in connection with the C. O. T. C. Surely this was "pernicious interference." As an American, who felt that he should not put his countrymen in a false light as being against the general policy of a Canadian university, he should not have spoken.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, let me add that Mr. McLeod's letter was in the right spirit. He naturally wished to know what I meant by my statements, and he expressed his opinion that Canadian students could easily make accusations against those Americans who realize their position at McGill, but against those who never seem to realize that north of the international boundary Uncle Sam's country does not exist.

Yours truly,
A. B. ROSEVEAR.

SCIENCE SRS. WILL DEBATE

Resolved That Canada is Over Supplied With Railways.

Only One Debate To-night

Refreshments Will be Served at the Close of the Discussion.

The Lit. meeting to-night will be a slight departure from the general rule in that only one debate will be held instead of two. This was caused by the inability of the Medicine teams to prepare their subjects in the short time given them, so they have postponed their debate until next Monday. The debate to be held this evening is that between the third and fourth years in Science upon the subject: "Resolved that Canada is over-supplied with railways." The affirmative is to be taken by the fourth year, represented by Messrs. Booth and Shean while the negative side will be upheld by Messrs. Lemay and Livingstone, of Sci. '17. The subject is one that should provide a great deal of discussion, and a good debate is assured for the scientists have here a subject in which they feel at home. After the debate proper, the question will be thrown open to the meeting. Refreshments will be served at the close of the discussion.

TIGERS ARE CHAMPIONS.

Torontos Gave Hamilton Tidy Argument in the Dominion Rugby Final.

Hamilton Tigers defeated T. R. & A. A. by 13-7 at Varsity Stadium Saturday afternoon, before about five thousand people, thereby annexing the Dominion championship. At half time the score stood 4-0 in favor of the Toronto squad. It was in the third quarter that Hamilton forged ahead by scoring a touchdown. The referee, who is an ex-Tiger player, rendered some very peculiar decisions and he required police protection at the end of the game.

HARVARD BEATS YALE.

The Crimson Down the Blue to the Tune of 41-0.

Harvard triumphed over Yale by a record breaking score, 41-0. No Crimson team ever administered such a crushing defeat to the stalwarts of Old Eli, the score only being surpassed by a 48-0 victory for Yale many years ago. Captain Mahan, of Harvard, closed his career with a blaze of glory, he himself scoring five touchdowns and kicking four field goals.

Winter Gloves to be Had at Joseph House.

BOTH BANDS PRESENT

A Number of Appointments and Promotions to be Found in Battalion Orders.

Headed by both the brass and bugle band the McGill Battalion marched out of barracks on Saturday afternoon, at 2.45 p.m. Marching along Sherbrooke street they proceeded as far as St. Hubert St., where they turned down, and proceeded as far as Craig street where they turned west, going as far as the Champ de Mars.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the elaborate plans which had been prepared for Saturday afternoon did not materialize, but instead the men spent a very profitable afternoon on the parade ground. A and D Companies spent the afternoon going through company drill while "B" Company divided up into squads and spent the greater part of the afternoon in mutual instruction.

Shortly after 5 p.m. the Battalion formed up into column of route and marched back to the barracks where they were dismissed.

Saturday parade marked the first appearance of the brass band, under the leadership of Charlie Gibbs, and it was hailed with delight by all members of the Battalion. As it was, the men were never without music, the two bands alternating during the march down and back.

The new gloves which the members of the Battalion will wear during winter have arrived and can be had at the Quartermaster's Stores in the Joseph House.

"NO RELATION" — BISSING.

American Educationist Not Proud of His German Friends.

Strong condemnation for the blind attitude of German-Americans is voiced in a letter written by Dr. Gustav Bissing, an American educationist of German origin published in the November issue of the University Monthly, of Toronto.

Dr. Bissing, after making out a strong case against the Prussian military system and the autocratic style of German government as compared with the democracy of the allied nations, writes:

"Perhaps it is not unnatural that I should look at these matters from this standpoint. As you know, my ancestors were German. The present Governor-General of Belgium has even tried to get a brother of mine to believe that he is related to us. Still I recall that my grandfather fought at Waterloo against Napoleon, who had been trying to make himself dictator of Europe. My other grandfather left Bavaria because he could not live where all political freedom was denied him, as he often told me as a child.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

(New York World.)

Napoleon in 1812, at the beginning of his Russian campaign, talked rashly of marching through Moscow to the Ganges. Germans who hastily propose to invade Egypt and India by way to Constantinople may need to remember Napoleon's example and his troubles in getting home.

PROVISION MADE FOR FLYING MEN

British Admiralty to Look After the Interests of Men of Curtiss School.

Provision has been made by the British Admiralty to look after the interests and complete the training of men who have commenced their course with the Curtiss Aviation School, for the Royal Naval Service, but who have not been able to complete the work owing to the closing of the school.

The announcement of Admiral Kingsmill was that the 150 men will be taken to England to complete their training, in drafts of twelve, 48 to be taken before the New Year. At this rate, it is estimated that all who have signed on will be in England by the middle of March, after which the list of Royal Naval Service will be a thing of the past. No more men are wanted now.

The first twelve, it is expected, will leave within two weeks, but the date is uncertain owing to the fact that seven men are still flying with the Curtiss school.

As the plan outlined by Admiral Kingsmill means that many of the men will be left in Toronto until long after the New Year without any chance of getting to England and without any pay, a second offer was made that any of these who wish may go to Halifax board the Niobe, and take a portion of their training course there, such as signalling, telegraphing, rifle drill, squad drill, etc.

The matter of pay being an important feature, it was explained to the students that $1.25 a day will be paid to every aviator for every day over seven weeks since he commenced his course, the amount to be reckoned from to-day backwards, and this subsistence allowance to be cut off on the day the Curtiss School closes. As that date is expected to be only a few days off, there will be a long period for many of the men before pay starts again, unless they take up the Niobe service. The second pay commences on the day they receive notification that they have been draft-

GEORGE SMITH IS AGAIN INSTRUCTOR

Wrestling Club May Journey to States in February to Meet Cornell.

The boxing, fencing and wrestling club held their first real practice of the season on Saturday. George Smith has been re-engaged as wrestling instructor for the coming year. The club is at present using every effort to obtain the services of last year's boxing instructor. They have every hope of having him on hand for the next practice. The hours for the various branches of the sport are as follows: Wrestling, Monday and Friday, 5 to 6 p.m.; Boxing, Monday and Tuesday, 5 to 6 p.m., at the Y.M.C.A.; Fencing, Wednesday and Saturday, 5 to 6 p.m. Both wrestling and fencing classes will be held in the Union.

Owing to the C. O. T. C. class the periods may have to be changed, but at present these hours will stand.

Arrangements have been made to enable those who are at present taking gym classes to become transferred to the various branches of the B. W. F. club.

There is at present every probability that the wrestling club will take a trip to either Cornell or Dartmouth. Cornell have at present offered to meet the McGill club during February. There will be several meets held with M.A.A.A. during the season. Some very successful smokers are also looked for also in the Union.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL.

The Students' Council meets to-morrow evening, in the Union, at 7.15.

ed to England, this to be at the rate of $2.40 a day. During the days they are flying an additional $2 will be paid.

In reply to a question, students were informed that they have no right to wear aviation uniforms in Canada now. They were also told that if they wish to complete their qualification in any American school their standing will be accepted in England.

RECRUITS FOR 5TH COMPANY

Will Be Welcomed On and After November 27.

WILL BE TRAINED HERE

Capt. A. S. Eve to Take Charge of the Preliminary Training of Unit.

Recruiting for the Fifth Universities Company, to be composed of university and ex-university men, will be in operation on and after Nov. 27th, when recruits will be welcomed at the headquarters of the company, No. 382 Sherbrooke street west, Montreal.

Any man wishing to join the Fifth Universities Company should be examined by an army medical officer locally. The names of such officers may be obtained by application to Captain A. S. Eve, 382 Sherbrooke St. west, Montreal. The medical examination must be rigorous, and there is a subsequent examination on reaching Montreal. In the event of rejection at Montreal, re-transportation may be charged to the local medical officer in accordance with paragraph 485, Pay and Allowance Regulations.

After the local medical examination, three attestation papers and two medical history sheets should be signed, and the recruit attested before the nearest justice of the peace. This should not be done until the recruit is ready to proceed to Montreal. In the meantime an application for transportation to Montreal should have been sent to Capt. A. S. Eve, and it will be forwarded without delay. Meals and berths are not usually provided on the trains. The subsistence allowance is 75 cents a day. Conditions of service and rate of pay will be the same as in the other units of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

The company will be organized and trained at Montreal by Captain A. S. Eve, of the McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C., professor of physics at the University, and will proceed either as a unit or by platoons.

The First University Company, under Captain Gregory Barclay, Arts '06, Law '08, has already joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and served in the trenches. The Second University Company, under Captain G. C. McDonald, Arts '04, and Captain P. Molson, Arts '01, was raised and equipped in seven weeks, and is also on the continent. The Third Universities Company was recruited eighty over strength in less than two months, and has nearly completed its training in England, at Shorncliffe. The Fourth Company was recruited and received preliminary training in two months. It is at full strength and will embark shortly.

The headquarters of the company are at No. 382 Sherbrooke street west, Montreal, and any enquiries or applications should be addressed to Capt. A. S. Eve.

LT. BETHUNE WOUNDED.

Bishop Bethune Has Four Grandson's on Overseas Service.

Pte. John Bethune, of the 4th Universities Company, received word yesterday of the wounding of his brother, Lieut. Ewart Bethune, in France. He was only slightly wounded. He also received a cable announcing the arrival at Salonika of another brother, Lieut. Robert Bethune, with the British forces. A third brother is at R. M. C., and will obtain a commission at Christmas. All four are former students of Trinity College School, Port Hope, and are grandsons of Bishop Bethune, the former headmaster of T. O. S.

MANDOLIN CLUB.

The McGill Mandolin Club will hold a practice to-night, at 7.15, at the Peate School of Music. All members are asked to be present.

5TH M. R. NOW IN TRENCHES

Gets a Lot to Eat Says Lieut. Hanna.

RAINY WEATHER BEGUN

Cobble Stones Only Part of Game That Does Not Appeal to Him.

George K. Hanna, of Arts '11, a Lieut in the 5th Mounted Rifles, now in Belgium writes the following letter to his sister in Montreal:

France, Oct. 31.
To-day was Sunday and we had Divine Service this morning, conducted by the Major, it was quite imposing. To-night we are billeted in a farm house—that is to say, my troops are in the hayloft, warm and comfortable, and I am in the farm house, which is also comfortable.

It was most interesting and rather weird this morning, to hear the church bells ringing in a nearby village, bidding the poor folk of the town to church, while at the same time the guns of the artillery could be heard roaring away only a few miles off.

This afternoon Percy Wade and I took a couple of the pack horses, sturdy beasts, and rode to the nearest village where we bought some things. On some of the roads going is fine, on others, however, it is difficult with green horses to get about, as the roads are used by the streams of ambulances and motor-trucks, chiefly the latter.

We are all in the best of health, and I never felt better in my life. The boys are out in the farm yard at the back of the house singing ragtime and their harmony is not too bad.

In this "game" everyone lives a day at a time and lets the morrow take care of itself, and in life if everyone did this I am sure they would not find things half as bad as they often think they are. Believe me, we have lots of fun—and I am mighty glad I was not one of the six officers who were left behind in England.

Early next week we go into the advanced trenches. — don't worry.

We hope that the weather will improve before long as it has rained ever since we got here. We got some papers to-day, a couple of days old—the war news seems very good.

Remember me to all my friends.

Belgium, Nov. 3.

Here we are again merry and bright! Only the scene has changed from France to Belgium. We did the march in one day, and although it was not very far, the cobble stones made me wish that I had my old grey mare. It is the only part of this game so far that does not appeal to me.

The weather has been rainy ever since we have been over, but I understand that it is the rainy time of the year in this country. There is one thing in its favor, it never gets very cold here.

You should not worry about us even where we are as we have lots of fun all the time, and I never felt better in my life. I eat tremendous meals, and let me tell you, we have all that we want to eat.

Things are fairly exciting. I can even hear the rifle fire from where I am writing, and to-day we saw a most exciting aeroplane battle.

Some of our boys are in the trenches to-night, the remainder of us will take their places in a few days; at present we are taking things easy, back a bit from the line. At night you would think it was the 24th of May, from the glares which go up and the constant noise of the firing.

I wish you would send me Strathcona boots, they are the only ones to keep the water out, etc., etc.

SNUBS HIS UNCLE.

"I leave you to your remorse and your Turks!" Could any phrase be more cutting than the Duke de Montpensier's curt message to his uncle, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria?
